Liar 2 REVEALED!

Writers
Jack and Harry
Williams on series
two of the hit ITV
thriller...

Write on:
Jack and Harry

Twist-filled thriller Liar on ITV was one of the on-screen highlights of 2017, so here at TV Times Towers we are thrilled that filming is now underway on a second series.

The first run saw teacher Laura Nielson (Joanne Froggatt) accuse surgeon Andrew Earlham (Ioan Gruffudd) of sexual assault, which he strenuously denied.

Viewers were left on the edge of their seats over who was telling the truth, before Andrew was revealed as the liar and went on the run. But the devious medic's dead body was last seen lying on the Essex marshes weeks later. So who killed him?

The new series, set to air this Autumn, will reveal all the answers and explore what happened in the intervening period, as both Ioan and Joanne will be returning.

'It was an exciting cliffhanger that everyone loved and the story picks up directly after the last episode,' Harry Williams, who co-writes the drama with brother Jack, tells TV Times in an exclusive interview.

'Ioan's brilliant. The hardest part was making sure there was enough of him in it, but don't worry – there's plenty!' adds Jack. 'You want to know what's happening next. We're delighted it's back.'

THE STORY CONTINUES...

Harry and Jack, who also penned BBC1's The Missing, its recent spin-off Baptiste, and new drama The Widow, which launches on ITV this week, admit the pressure is on to ensure the second outing of Liar lives up to the first.

'I don't know why we do it to ourselves!' laughs Harry. 'But because we're carrying on the series, it's less daunting than starting again.'

'Baptiste was harder because we had a whole new story and characters,' says Jack. 'But with Liar it's less scary, as the cast of amazing actors are coming back and we're concluding a story we always intended to finish. Now our responsibility is to deliver the story we began.'

A THIRD SERIES?

While they confirm that the mystery of Andrew and Laura will be resolved in the upcoming run, Jack and Harry tell us there is scope for a third series with a different cast.

'We've loved every minute of working with Joanne and Ioan and wish we could think of a way of doing that story for ever, but a new lie would be exciting,' says Jack.

'Yes, it'd be interesting to revisit in a slightly different way,' agrees Harry. 'There are so many options for the audience to figure out who to trust. It's such a great thing to write.'

CAREN CLARK

Marcella's blonde ambition

Anna Friel begins filming series three of the thriller in its new setting of Belfast...

Check out the first snap of Anna Friel sporting a blonde wig as she reprises her role as Marcella Backland for the third series of ITV's gritty crime drama Marcella.

After being filmed and set in London previously, the new eight-part run will be shot on location in Belfast, Northern Ireland.

Following on from the nail-biting climax to the last season, where Marcella faked her own death, she's working in Belfast now as an undercover detective.

She has taken on a new identity as Keira so she can infiltrate the infamous Maguire crime clan, but her quest for the truth puts her and others in danger. And will her old life eventually catch up with her, too?

Silent Witness' Amanda Burton will play Katherine, the matriarch of the Maguire family, while Hugo Speer, who made a brief appearance at the end of series two, will reprise his role as Marcella's handler.

'I'm delighted to be taking on the role of Marcella again,' says Anna. 'Everyone has been so supportive of the show and I am being widely welcomed in the great city of Belfast. I can't wait for the viewers to see what this series has in store.'

Time to say goodbye...

Keeley Hawes on filming the final series of The Durrells and falling in love with a beautiful barn owl

NEW DRAMA

The Durrells

SUNDAY / ITV / 8PM

Keeley Hawes has said goodbye to many a hit TV show, but none as close to her heart as ITV's The Durrells.

After four series, the drama is coming to an end and Keeley, who has made no secret of her fondness for both the books and the small-screen adaptation, is rather emotional about leaving.

As we visit her on set in sun-drenched Corfu, the vistas of a tiny bay looking out to sparkling blue sea provide a stunning backdrop. But Keeley still finds it hard to discuss the end of the show without tears rolling down from behind her designer sunglasses.

When TV Times sees Keeley again back at Twickenham Studios (where the interior scenes of the Durrell house are filmed) for our exclusive cover shoot, she's still a bit choked up, but the arrival of some energetic lemurs soon distracts her.

'They're quite big – they jump on your shoulder and I keep thinking they're going to fall off!' she smiles.

Here, Keeley, 43, reflects on Louisa Durrell's final chapter, saying goodbye to her on-screen family, and how she fell in love with an owl called Ulysses...

Where do we find Louisa at the start of series four?

She's trying to move on, because she has to – she's in love with a married man and it's not going to go anywhere, so she has to pick herself up. It's awkward between

Louisa and Spiros because they have declared themselves, so they are now wondering how to get their friendship back on track. She is finding it really tough with her children, too, because Margo's trying to grow up and become a woman, and Larry needs to spread his wings. She gets very emotional, so she has decided to concentrate on opening up the house as a B&B instead, but she only has one paying guest to start with: her second cousin Basil [played by Miles Jupp]!

Which is your favourite of the new animals this year?

I just want to have scenes with this white barn owl called Ulysses [played by two owls called Twit and Twoo]. He's so beautiful and very trusting; I found it really moving acting with him. I had to hold back tears and Josh [O'Connor, who plays Larry] thought it was so funny that I was crying over an owl. But I'd never been that close to an owl before and it was just so lovely. Everybody in my life is bored of hearing about me being chased by pelicans now!

Does the looming World War Two come into play this series?

Yes, we can see Albania from the Durrell house and it's been invaded. Louisa's sticking her head in the sand, but there's darkness on the horizon. She has built this wonderful life and then there's this massive spanner in the works.

End of an era: The family's happiness is threatened

You're such a close-knit cast – how does it feel to say goodbye?

It's so bittersweet, as we are like a family now. Playing the mother, I've watched them all grow up, and Milo [Parker, who plays Gerry] has a moustache now! It's lovely to be able to finish off the show and tell the Durrells' whole story; it would have been awful if ITV had stopped us earlier, especially after the heartbreaking ending with Louisa and Spiros last year.

Was it tough to leave the Durrell house for the last time?

Well, I wanted to stay in Corfu as I think Bodyguard was still on at the time! We'll all be going back. The island is like a second home to us now, and we know all the places to go to. The best thing is seeing people's faces when the cast go out together, as they realise the Durrells are out for dinner!

What can you tell us about how the show is going to end?

Inevitably it is dramatic, but it's a very Durrells ending. People are really invested in the show, and I worried initially about the ending, but this is very satisfying. As for Louisa and Spiros, I like the 'will they, won't they?' thing. I think it would be very satisfying on one hand if they get together, but there's something romantic about them not being able to. The scripts are some of the best ever this year.

Is it definitely the end?

I know we'd all be up for something like a spin-off and I think people who love the show would be keen, too... I go to work on other shows now and I think, 'Where's all the fun stuff?' I miss the animals!

'It's the heart

Amanda Holden on why Britain's Got Talent is as strong as ever for series 13 and the act that has left her terrified...

NEW ENTERTAINMENT
Britain's Got Talent
SATURDAY / ITV / 7.15PM

Get ready for all manner of amazing singers, death-defying stunts, entertaining pets and everything in between as Britain's Got Talent returns for its 13th series this week.

Once again, judges Simon Cowell, Amanda Holden, David Walliams and Alesha Dixon have toured the UK to hunt out the most talented performers our country has to offer.

The audition circuit kicks off at the London Palladium and there's the welcome return of a familiar face, as Ant McPartlin rejoins Declan Donnelly as the show's co-host.

Dec fronted last year's BGT live shows alone as Ant took time out from his presenting duties for personal reasons. And Ant's obviously been hugely missed as he walks out on to the stage to a standing ovation from the crowd.

'I'm really, really emotional now. I've missed you all,' says Ant, fighting back tears as Dec hugs him. 'What a lovely welcome! What a great show to come back to. I'm thrilled; I'm over the moon. Shall we crack on before I cry?'

With the judges in their seats, it's time for the first acts to show why they think they've got what it takes to follow in the footsteps of last year's winner, comedian Lost Voice Guy, and bag a £250,000 cash prize and a spot at this year's Royal Variety Performance.

Here, Amanda, 48, exclusively tells TV Times why this series will be well and truly spook-tacular...

Now in its 13th series, BGT is as popular as ever. What do you think is the secret to its success?

The show entertains the whole family. What can't you love about that? It's for all generations and all ages. I think it's the heart of Britain.

Pride and joy: Dec with last year's winner Lee Ridley, AKA Lost Voice Guy

“ Britain is never going to run out of talent and we need to celebrate it! ”

Back together:
Amanda with fellow judges
David, Simon and Alesha and hosts
Ant and Dec

of Britain'

David won the National Television Award for TV Judge again earlier this year. Has he been winding Simon up about it?

We all wind Simon up but David enjoys it the most! He keeps his statues under the desk and brings them out all the time to wind Simon up. Personally, I think he should bring them out more often because he needs to work on his muscles – they're going a little soft!

Have there been any major disagreements between the judges yet?

Boringly no. We've all been on the same page this year with what we're looking for. By total chance, things have gone a little supernatural. It's amazing television.

Has anyone put you on the edge of your seat so far this year?

Oh my God... There was this female magician who scared the life out of me! She had me down in the

Wit and wisdom: David plays it for laughs underbelly of the London Palladium and it was so scary. The act was horrifying and being in the basement of the theatre where I'd never been before, despite all my years performing there, was truly terrifying. The Palladium is a majorly haunted theatre, so I'm like, 'Who else is floating around? Don't touch me!' I won't give too much away, but I was terrified.

We often see you get emotional on the show. Have any auditions made you feel tearful?

I've felt more scared than tearful. It's taken me completely out of my comfort zone. I've never felt fear like it, probably since the last time I watched the [horror] film Saw!

Barely two days into filming and you and Simon had already pressed the Golden Buzzer, which sends an act straight to the semi-finals...

I don't overthink the Golden Buzzer too much. I try to go with my instinct. This year, I've gone for something that I think younger people will really enjoy and I hope they vote! Alesha's Golden Buzzer act could possibly win the series.

From what you've seen, has Britain still got talent?

Yes! Britain is never going to run out of talent and we need to celebrate it as much as we can.

What do you most look forward to about the BGT live shows?

I really look forward to the live shows as the family comes together again. It's brilliant we're back at the Hammersmith Apollo for the live shows, as I think it feels more magical. Of course, another highlight for me is the frocks...

Are you surprised by the stir your outfits cause on Twitter?

I can't please everyone, but not many TV shows would allow me to have so much fun with my wardrobe, so I make the most of it!

Speaking of social media, your version of Tightrope from The Greatest Showman went crazy on Instagram. Is there an album in the works?

The video was a special moment for the three of us girls [Amanda sang with daughters Lexi, 13, and Hollie, seven] to celebrate my husband Chris' birthday. It's taken me by surprise the number of record-deal offers that have been thrown at me since. It's been a dream of mine to release an album, so perhaps one day soon it will become a reality...

BRITAIN'S GOT TALENT IS PREVIEWED ON PAGES 36-37

Who is the VICTIM?

James Harkness, Kelly Macdonald and John Hannah on starring in a legal thriller set to be TV's next big event...

NEW DRAMA

The Victim

MON-THU / BBC1 / 9PM

These days we're spoilt for choice when it comes to gripping drama, but BBC1's new thriller

The Victim, stripped across four consecutive evenings this week, looks to be something special.

Set within Scotland's unique legal system, it follows the story of a grieving mother, Anna, whose nine-year-old son, Liam, was murdered 15 years ago.

The killer was a child himself, and has therefore been given a fresh start with a new identity, leaving Anna livid and determined to hunt him down.

Then, a few streets away, bus driver Craig falls victim to a brutal vigilante attack. His assailant was incited by a social-media post, which the police suspect Anna put online. But while some are reluctant to pursue the case, lead detective DI Grover is adamant the law should take its course...

As the drama unfolds, viewers will be left wondering who to trust and who to feel sorry for, as one

“Anna acts in ways I find hard to sympathise with”
KELLY MACDONALD

question underpins the entire series: who is the real victim?

TV Times visited stars James Harkness, Kelly Macdonald and John Hannah on set in Glasgow to find out more...

EMMA BULLIMORE

THE VICTIM IS PREVIEWED ON PAGES 52-53

MYSTERIOUS NEIGHBOUR

Craig Myers, played by James Harkness

How would you describe Craig?

He's a family guy who had a bit of a tough start in life. But he's a hard worker, and he loves his family and his job driving buses. Then he becomes the victim of a smear campaign because of a suspicion he's the man who killed Anna's son. This stuff used to happen where I grew up, too. If someone was an enemy of the area, they'd put posters up of that one person and it would be everywhere. It was horrible. Where I grew up, you were guilty until proven innocent.

How does Craig react when he realises the attack he suffers was vigilantism?

He's angry that someone gets to completely uproot his family's life. His daughter is very important to him and he's adamant about being a good father because he didn't have that stability himself as a child. But as a parent, he does try to understand how Anna must be feeling. You find out a lot more about him as the series goes on.

Your star is on the rise. Is this your most challenging role yet?

It's definitely one of the biggest, and it's bucket-list material for a young Scottish actor to be in a drama with John Hannah and Kelly Macdonald – I had to try not to act like a fanboy! I learnt so much from them. This drama will surprise you; it pulls the rug out from under your feet.

GRIEVING MOTHER

Anna Dean, played by Kelly Macdonald

Tell us more about Anna...

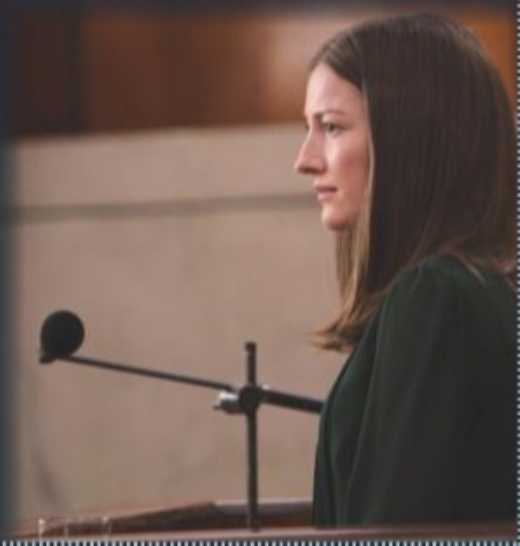

She is a grieving mum who can't get past the fact that the person who killed her son served so little time and gets to carry on with his life. She has never got over it and her grieving process has nowhere to go, which turns her into a slightly crazed person. Anna has absolutely no respect for the police, she's lost faith in them, so she goes off on her own to try to find out who this man is.

She's not a saint though, is she?

Anna's very human. She's trying to make things right for her son but she's not a goody two-shoes and, even though the most awful thing has happened to her, she behaves in ways that I find hard to sympathise with. In fact, she's quite unappealing. There's a lot of drama and, in a nutshell, you're wondering who the victim actually is. The story is a bit of a whodunit and it's about the idea that life is full of grey areas.

Was this a demanding role for you to play?

You always want to take on dramatic roles and this certainly ticks that box, so I really wanted to play her. I think Anna is the darkest role I've had in my career; I probably need to do some comedy after this. A big part of taking the job was also getting to film in Glasgow [where Kelly was born] – although I've been working so much, it could just as easily have been Australia!

FRUSTRATED DETECTIVE

DI Grover, played by John Hannah

What is DI Grover like?

He's the officer investigating the attack on Craig and he's trying not to take a moral stance. There are a lot of crime dramas where the cops are at the centre of the story and their personality flaws are played up quite heavily. We've all become used to those tropes of policemen with emotional baggage but I liked the fact that didn't apply to this character. The only thing we do find out about Grover personally is that he has been subject to what he says are false accusations, which is why he's moved to this police station.

His colleagues want to go easy on Anna, but Grover is harsher, isn't he?

From his point of view, the law is what it is and everyone has to abide by it. If Anna is responsible for inciting the attack, he thinks that must be pursued regardless of the rights and wrongs of her position. Others around him are having a more understandable reaction to her scenario.

What does the drama have to say about the justice system?

Anyone who reads the newspaper is aware of the way social media comes into the justice process now. There's more than one victim to any crime in some ways and it's a minefield. It's interesting that we deal with the idiosyncrasies of Scottish law, which hasn't been seen much on TV before.

'Sing your heart out!'

Ahead of The Voice UK final, Olly Murs offers some advice to the remaining acts...

LAST ONE ENTERTAINMENT

The Voice UK

SATURDAY / ITV / 8.40PM

If there's one person who knows how to get to the final of a TV talent show, it's Olly Murs. After coming second on The X Factor in 2009, the Essex favourite has enjoyed huge chart success – and landed a coveted job as a coach on The Voice UK.

So Olly will certainly understand the pressure the remaining four acts are under as they take to the stage in Saturday night's live final.

He and fellow coaches Sir Tom Jones, will.i.am and Jennifer Hudson will be watching from their big red chairs as our finalists sing their socks off for the title of The Voice UK champion 2019 and that all-important record contract – but only viewers can vote for the winner.

Here, Olly, 34, chats to TV Times about his magical moments from this series and celebrating 10 years at the top...

How much have you enjoyed this year's competition?

I love being on this show. Myself, Sir Tom, Jennifer and will.i.am have great chemistry and bounce off each other really well. I enjoy sitting in the red chair and I like helping singers take that next step in their career. And I always want to win – all of us coaches want to win! But it's out of our hands now...

What has been your highlight?

For me, my act Jimmy Balito's performance at the Knockouts is the standout moment of the series. To go through what he did with his dad passing away during the competition and then come out and smash his performance in the way he did, with the emotion so raw and so present, I think that was something really special to see. I got very emotional; it was difficult not to. But he did incredibly well, and I was very proud.

We loved those moments during the Blind Auditions where you and the other coaches burst into song. Do you enjoy having the freedom to do that?

I don't always. People think it's prepared and it's really not; it's just as and when we feel it. But sometimes you feel the pressure of the audience going, 'Sing, sing, sing,' and I'm thinking, 'I can't today, my voice is not in a good place and I'm not feeling very well.' But I do love it, it's good fun. When all us coaches get up and do a turn, it is entertaining.

Having been a runner-up on The X Factor, what advice would you give the finalists on The Voice UK?

Just enjoy it. It's hard for me to say that because, when I was in that position on the final of The X Factor, I struggled. There were just so many emotions. But I did enjoy it; I was emotional but happy. I had managed to complete this journey from the auditions all the way to the final, and that's also an amazing achievement for the finalists on this show – they're all winners just by being here. So I'd say, 'Enjoy it, sing your heart out, and may the best person win.'

A decade on, what's the key to your continued success, and what's the plan for the next 10 years?

It's a combination of hard work, dedication and luck; often I've just been in the right place at the right time. When I came off The X Factor, I felt I was just a karaoke singer and there was definitely pressure from people waiting to see what I was going to do. But I had the desire, belief and passion – and the right songs. Everything felt right and it just went from there. The next 10 years are an open book I haven't written yet; I'm excited to see where they take me...

Back from the dead?

Hollywood star Kate Beckinsale on playing a grieving widow who suspects her husband is still alive in a new thriller...

NEW DRAMA

The Widow

MONDAY, TUESDAY / ITV / 9PM

In a pub in Penarth, an elegant coastal town just outside Cardiff, the atmosphere is an unusually sober one.

TVTimes is on location for new ITV drama The Widow, and the reason for the slightly strained mood is that a wake is being filmed today.

The eight-part series, shot in Wales and South Africa, centres on the titular widow, Georgia, played by Hollywood star Kate Beckinsale, who is struggling to cope with life after the death of her husband, Will, in a plane crash.

However, after catching a glimpse of someone who looks just like Will in TV news footage of rioting in the Congo – where he was last seen three years ago boarding the doomed flight – she begins to suspect he may still be alive.

Ignoring advice that it's just her imagination playing tricks, Georgia flies to Africa to investigate...

During a break in filming, we sat down with Los Angeles-based Kate, 45, daughter of Porridge and Rising Damp actor Richard Beckinsale, to find out how this role tempted her back to British TV...

This is your first TV role in 20 years – what was it about this drama that appealed to you?

The Widow's writers, Jack and Harry Williams [who also penned The Missing and Baptiste], are really interesting, and it was intriguing to receive the scripts for the first few episodes and think, 'I wonder what happens to this woman?'

How would you describe your character, Georgia Wells?

She has experienced blow after blow, and begins the story in an incredibly vulnerable state of retreat. She has moved to a remote area of Wales, where she doesn't interact with other humans much. She's at a crossroads in her life.

What sends her to Africa?

By chance, she sees someone she thinks is her husband on a TV news bulletin about rioting in the Congo. But Will has supposedly been dead for three years! Trying to figure out what that means, she goes on a journey to Africa – and she's also partly coming out of this frozen state that she has been in.

Does she have any doubts about what she's seen on television?

When somebody has lost a loved one, they often have that experience where they think they see them, or they have a very intense dream in which the person is still alive. It's happened to me – for a split second you think you see them. So in the beginning there's this nagging doubt, but she can't live with the uncertainty, even though it's desirable to stay safe and reclusive.

There's a lot of French dialogue spoken in the scenes set in the Congo – how did you find that?

For six months, I spent around half of the time speaking French with actors, which is something I wasn't anticipating doing! So if my French was rusty, it isn't any more.

This is a tense, dark thriller. How did you lighten the mood on set?

The camera department were quite naughty, and pranked me a lot. One time they put a fake dog poo in the glove compartment of my car, just to see what my reaction would be. Or I'd open the boot and be rummaging around, and there would be a toy snake in there. We did actually have a snake wrangler on set, so it wasn't totally unlikely that a snake could be in there!

How was it filming in wintry Wales, especially after working in sunny South Africa?

It was really cold. I was wearing about eight pairs of trousers and thinking, 'I'm going to die of hypothermia!' But I've always had an appetite to film in Britain; I just haven't been asked very often lately. I'm always dying to work here.

Living in Los Angeles, what do you miss most about home?

Marks & Spencer and black cabs! But mostly everyone having the same references that you have, and a certain sense of humour, particularly in men. I love that English men have a kind of self-deprecating humour about themselves. It's really healthy.

Do you keep up with British TV?

Your tastes change when you're homesick. There's an English shop in LA, where you can buy food you'd never buy in England, like a bag of flying saucers or Instant Whip. It's the same with television. You suddenly find you've watched every episode of Loose Women!

So who is your favourite Loose Woman?

That's tricky! I'm always quite pleased when Katie Price is on, but I think if I had to go on a mini-break, I'd probably go with Jane [Moore] or Nadia [Sawalha].

Strain: Pete visits Rhona after her operation

Emmerdale's Zoe Henry on the hot topic of Rhona's menopause storyline, and how she's juggling acting with her passion for homeopathy

SOAP

Emmerdale

MONDAY-FRIDAY / ITV / TIMES VARY

According to official statistics, around 13 million women in the UK are currently going through the menopause or have just come out the other side.

Bizarre, then, that soap operas – watched mainly by women – have never really addressed this topic.

But times are changing... Thanks to Emmerdale, the 'M word' is finally being spoken about. Hot flushes, night sweats and mood swings are all on the agenda, courtesy of village vet Rhona Kirk. And Zoe Henry, who plays her, is delighted.

'I don't think it's been touched on before, which is why it's exciting,' says Zoe, 45. 'And, obviously, it resonates with so many women.'

'If we live long enough, we're going to experience the menopause. As sure as the sun rises and the sun sets, it's going to happen.'

'So I hope it breaks the taboo. And if this helps just one woman feel better about what she's going through, then we've done our job.'

In Rhona's case, symptoms have hit her like a steam train following a hysterectomy. Her relationship with younger boyfriend Pete Barton is suffering, not least because Rhona, who has a son, Leo, with Marlon Dingle, feels guilty that she can't give the farmer a child of his own.

'I think Rhona feels she has less value as a woman,' says Zoe. 'Even though she and Pete had ruled out having kids, there was always, "What if?", whereas now, that has been crossed out forever.'

'I'm yet to go through the menopause myself, and I've got two kids [daughter Violet and son Stanley with actor Jeff Hordley, who plays Cain Dingle] and I'm happy with that. But I know that when Mother Nature closes that door for me, I'm going to find it quite hard. It's the lack of choice in entering that phase of your life.'

For all the struggles that Rhona is going through, filming the story has been a positive process for Zoe, strengthening bonds with her female colleagues and friends, who have welcomed the opportunity to share their experiences.

'One of the girls in costume said, "I'm going through this" and told me her story,' adds Zoe. 'And one of our female directors, who had the same operation as Rhona at the same age, told me what happened to her. It's cathartic for them, and they're excited to see the experience depicted properly.'

Passion: Zoe studies homeopathy

But it has also highlighted a lack of help for women, and shone a light on a much wider issue – how we perceive women when they get past their child-bearing years.

'From talking to women, there is definitely a lack of support and a lack of understanding about how serious the menopause can be,' continues Zoe. 'I think it goes back to this being a bit of a taboo and an embarrassment.'

'To admit to the menopause is to admit to getting older, and we are terrible at doing that because, in some ways, to be seen to be getting older is perceived as a weakness; like things are coming to an end. But that's nonsense! People are living to a much older age, and the menopause is midway through your life, not at the end of it.'

Zoe hopes that Rhona, a 'tenacious cow' by her own account, will eventually seek help. And should her alter ego choose to go down the complementary therapy route, perhaps the star can give the scriptwriters some advice.

Off-screen, she is training to become a homeopath. The system of alternative medicine – based on the philosophy that 'like treats like' – has its fair share of critics, but Zoe has been a fan for years.

'I got into it in my 20s, and had incredible results – and I used it in both my labours,' explains Zoe. 'When Violet was little, she had really bad skin and we took her to see a homeopath who gave her a remedy, and it cleared up entirely.'

'I'm six months into my training, and it can be a bit overwhelming because it's a four-year course. But I'm studying with like-minded men and women, and it feels great.'

What's coming up for Rhona – and whether her relationship with Pete can survive – remains unclear. But Zoe is happy to go with the flow. All she asks for is one thing: that her bosses keep Rhona and Cain far apart.

'I've never been one of those women who wants to be in my husband's pocket,' she smiles. 'If we had to live and work together, I think we'd be divorced by now!'

'We had those scenes together about 18 months ago, where Rhona got drunk and tried to get off with Cain. I had so many sleepless nights about that; I thought Jeff might think I was a terrible actor!'

'Life's boring without cake!'

Dr Ranj Singh on how his new show helps us save pounds and shed them

NEW FACTUAL

Save Money: Lose Weight

TUESDAY / ITV / 7.30PM

Summer is just around the corner, so many of us will be thinking about trying to shed a few pounds. But the countless diets and weight-loss aids on the market can be expensive, so it's lucky help is at hand as Dr Ranj Singh and Sian Williams return with a new series of ITV's Save Money: Lose Weight. Dr Ranj, 39, tells TVTimes more...

What's coming up on the show?

We have eight contributors testing everything from celebrity-endorsed diets to the Scandi diet and the vegan Keto diet to see if any are more effective – and, indeed, more cost effective. For every pound someone loses in weight, we learn how much it's cost them in cash!

And I'll be testing 'no exercise' weight-loss gadgets, from sweat suits to scales that reveal your body-fat percentage. I tried a toning-from-home machine; I had to electrocute myself to stimulate my muscles. I can only imagine it's what childbirth is like!

How good is your diet?

I didn't have the healthiest lifestyle when I was younger. I was an overweight kid because I'd eat lots of fatty and sweet foods. I took those bad habits into adulthood, except now I actively watch what I eat. I don't exclude anything, it's all about portion control and moderation. So cake is still on the menu – I just don't have it every day. Life would be boring without cake!

Any weight-loss tips?

Find a healthier eating plan that works for you and your lifestyle, as it needs to become a way of life. Pay attention to sleep because people who sleep better tend to eat less during the daytime. And find a form of exercise you enjoy.

We loved you on Strictly last year, did it help your health and fitness?

Physically and mentally it was hard work because it's an intense process. But the health benefits have been fantastic! My fitness levels and strength have improved, and I developed a love of dancing that really doesn't feel like exercise. After this chat, I'm off to Zumba!

Confused Dot com!

EastEnders favourite June Brown on why testing gadgets hasn't calmed her fears about technology...

NEW ENTERTAINMENT
Hard to Please OAPs
 TUESDAY / ITV / 8.30PM

Albert Square's Dot Branning is never afraid to speak her mind, and June Brown, who plays the EastEnders legend, is equally forthright, particularly about modern technology!

In ITV's fun new six-part series Hard to Please OAPs, June joins seven other celebrity pensioners – fellow actors Amanda Barrie and Ruth Madoc, ex-political reporter John Sergeant, singer and Real Marigold favourite Sheila Ferguson, reigning 'king of the jungle' Harry Redknapp, Jack Whitehall's dad Michael and veteran entertainer Lionel Blair – to test state-of-the-art gadgets.

Here, in an exclusive chat with TVTimes, June, 92, tells us why she's still wary...

Are you hard to please?

I didn't used to be. I was very placid in my youth and didn't disagree with people but, as you get older, you get harder to please. I like things to be right, and if they're not, I have to say something!

So what do you make of modern technology?

I'm technology illiterate. I don't bother with computers, although I have an electronic reader. I can play CDs and I can use an ordinary mobile. But with mobiles now, all these funny things come up when I just want to make calls. Then there's text speak, like, 'C U 2moro.' It's like hieroglyphics.

In the first episode, you test an Alexa smart speaker and ask for a scone recipe, but instead, she tells you how to make a salad...

Yes, we didn't have any instructions and I didn't know we had to call her attention before asking a question. Then she gave such ridiculous answers. Doesn't the woman know you just need flour and margarine for scones? I'd rather have a recipe book. If Alexa came on bended knees and begged me for work, I wouldn't give her a job!

What other gadgets do you try?

Some are a waste of money. There was a pooper-scooper vacuum, but you can do things quicker yourself with a plastic bag. We also tried a robotic vacuum cleaner but it couldn't get up on to the carpet. It was like a horse refusing the jump! I did like a fitness mat we tried, though, and balancing on an exercise plate. Amanda and I helped each other stay upright but I leant to one side pretending to be a motorbike going round a bend!

Are you concerned what future technology might look like?

It's a horrible thought, isn't it? Imagine having a robot in your sitting room. I don't suppose it could develop a brain, but it might decide to put a knife in you! I wouldn't trust it. I don't know what'll happen – maybe the end of the world. That's cheerful!

How do you stay feeling young?

I'm thankful my brain still works but I just don't consider myself old. If you think you're old, you will be old. Everybody thinks about age

Soap star: As Dot in EastEnders, with the late Dr Legg

now, though, and how a 90-year-old or a 72-year-old so-and-so looks marvellous for their age. But they've probably had a lot done!

You're on a break from filming EastEnders at the moment, but do you still love playing Dot?

Yes, as long as her words fit her and the character doesn't suddenly change. And I still like the fact that as soon as you act, you come alive.

Shire bliss!

Kelvin Fletcher
on his joy at working with shire horses for a new series of *Springtime
on the Farm...*

“Shire horses
aren’t just animals,
they’re so much more”

NEW NATURE

Springtime on the Farm

MONDAY-FRIDAY / CHANNEL 5 / 8PM

He’s best known as Emmerdale favourite Andy Sugden, so it’s not difficult to picture Kelvin Fletcher on a farm.

After 20 years playing Andy, it seemed like fate when Kelvin’s first post-soap gig was a presenting role on Channel 5’s Springtime on the Farm last year. The series returns for a second outing this week, and Kelvin is mucking in again with Countryfile’s Adam Henson, JLS singer-turned-farmer JB Gill and presenter Lindsey Chapman to celebrate Britain’s farms and bring us heartwarming stories about the joys of Spring.

‘The passion and enthusiasm of the farmers is brilliant,’ says Kelvin, 35. ‘Animal welfare is absolutely paramount. Filming has made me more conscious of the hard work that goes into creating food. I’ve never met a farmer who’s not got an amazing work ethic.’

Today, a windswept Wednesday in March, Kelvin is calling TV Times from Hockerwood Farm in Nottinghamshire where, as our exclusive pictures show, he met some stunning shire horses...

What have you been up to today?

I’ve been filming with the biggest horses I’ve ever seen – 18 or 19 hands! It was a bit daunting at first, but they’re gentle giants. Standing next to them, I’m mesmerised by their sheer size and stature. Their temperament is so calming you can’t help but want to get closer and closer. I was told the only weather they don’t like is wind and today it’s blowing a gale, but it’s been a great day.

Did you get to work with them?

Yes, I met a big male horse called Stanley and a mare called Isabella, who is hopefully about to deliver a healthy foal and continue the line of the shire horse. I didn’t get a chance to plough because the fields were too wet today, but we did harness Blossom, the mare, and I drove her as she pulled a load of hay bales. Shire horses are used to pulling double their body weight, which would be about 1.5 tonnes for Blossom. With me she pulled about 100kg, so it was a light day!

Did you get a chance to ride, too?

I have ridden horses in the past but I couldn’t ride the shire horses today because of health and safety. If I was going to go trotting through the fields on any horse, I would want to do it on a shire. They’re so calm and relaxed.

Having filmed with them, do you have a sense now of why shire horses are iconic?

Yes, they’re beautiful, majestic animals. They were bred as working farm animals, but are somewhat redundant now because of machinery. Thankfully there are some people out there who still breed these exceptional animals.

I met Geoff, a breeder who is a big part of why shire horses are still continuing. He’s a bit of a saviour – if it wasn’t for him the breed would be extinct. It’s great to hear why he’s doing it.

I also met Mike, who was a teacher for 25 years, and now he’s retired he spends his days walking in the fields with these beloved horses. He chats to them and says they listen well. It's lovely to know there are people who want to carry on these traditions. They're not just animals, they're so much more.

Learning the ropes: Kelvin puts Blossom through her paces

How comfortable are you with farm animals?

People probably assume I'm comfortable on a farm, but after they've heard me ask a couple of questions they quickly learn I'm not! I'm not from a farming background, so it's all new to me. I ask questions viewers would, like, 'Why does a vet put his hand up the bum of a cow?'

On Emmerdale, there were animals in the backdrop but very rarely did we interact with them. I don't even own a pair of wellies. Every day on shoots in muddy fields they've had to provide wellies for me. That's pretty shocking, isn't it? I need to get myself a pair!

Hen do: At the free-range chicken farm

What else will you be up to during the series?

I'm a roving presenter, out there meeting people, and I'll also spend a few days in the studio based at Cannon Hall Farm in Barnsley, with the rest of the gang. I've not delivered any lambs this year, but I've visited a free-range chicken farm in North Yorkshire and have also been scanning pregnant cows – the equipment is amazing. Vets have a probe that they put up the cow's backside, they've got these goggles on and what they can see is projected on to a screen! Farming is such a fascinating industry and one that needs to be celebrated.

NEW COMEDY

Urban Myths

NOW TV sky Available
box sets Wed 10 April
(from 10pm) Season 3 Eps 8
Running time 22 mins

Do you know what happened when Princess Diana went clubbing with Freddie Mercury and Kenny Everett? And did a burglar bite off more than he could chew as he tried to rob pop legend and supermodel Grace Jones?

Once again, Sky Arts is putting a unique spin on extraordinary and 'true-ish' stories featuring famous people as its Emmy-nominated comedy, Urban Myths, returns for a third series.

SURPRISES

David Walliams, Stephen Mangan and Bodyguard's Sophie Rundle are among the stars to feature in the eight episodes, which take a tongue-in-cheek look at how the events might have unfolded.

'They are surprising stories, and all beautifully told,' explains Morwenna Gordon, Urban Myths' executive producer. 'We take well-known figures and find an extraordinary way into very private moments in their lives.'

The full series will be released as a box set on Sky and NOW TV from 10pm on 10 April. Here's what we can expect...

JUDY EWENS

URBAN MYTHS IS PREVIEWED ON PAGES 68-69

Legal aid: Joan with her then-boyfriend Monty (David Walliams)

How comedy, strange tales and icons clash in the return of Sky Arts' 'true-ish' sitcom

Beyond the stars...

Out on the town: Freddie, Princess Diana and Kenny

Princess Diana, Freddie Mercury and Kenny Everett

Starring: Sophie Rundle, David Avery & Mathew Baynton

One night in the late 1980s, Freddie and Kenny took Princess Diana to a gay bar, where, in this fictionalised account, she had a moving encounter with a drag artist.

EPISODE 2

Donald Trump and Andy Warhol

Starring: Jack McBrayer & Anthony Atamanuik

In 1984, Andy judged some cheerleader auditions for Trump's football team, but he had a score to settle...

EPISODE 3

Charles Dickens and Hans Christian Andersen

Starring: Monica Dolan, Ian Hart & Stephen Mangan

According to this myth, Dickens superfan Hans turned up unexpectedly at the home of Charles and Catherine Dickens, then wouldn't leave.

EPISODE 4

Joan Collins

Starring: Victoria Hamilton & David Walliams

In 1996, Joan Collins went head-to-head with publishers Random House after they sued her for the return of a $1.2million advance, claiming the book they commissioned her to write was unreadable.

EPISODE 5

Grace Jones

Starring: Joshua McGuire, Gloria Onitiri & David Ajala
Grace Jones and her then-boyfriend, Jean-Paul Goude, were robbed at gunpoint in Goude's apartment in 1979. In this version, the burglar got more than he bargained for...

EPISODE 6

Madonna and Basquiat

Starring: Sophie Kennedy Clark & Calvin Demba

Before she was famous, Madonna had a short but passionate relationship with artist Jean-Michel Basquiat. This myth takes place on the New York subway just before she got her big break.

EPISODE 7

Paul McCartney

Starring: Tom Connor

The melody for Yesterday came to Paul McCartney while he was staying with a girlfriend in the mid-1960s. This episode imagines how he came to write the song and how it changed his and John Lennon's partnership.

EPISODE 8

Mick Jagger and Princess Margaret

Starring: Jamie Campbell Bower & Kelly Macdonald

For six years, the Queen refused to include Mick in her Honours List. Was this because she disapproved of his friendship with her sister?

Coronation Street

Ruthless: Rick doesn't care who he hurts

Under pressure from Rick, Gary sets out to scam a vulnerable OAP...

Shame on you, Gary Windass! Once the type of lad we'd like for a son-in-law, the boracic builder sinks to a horrible low this week when he tries to persuade a lovely old lady to take out a crippling, high-interest loan.

To be fair, he's not doing it out of choice. Gary's in debt to loan shark Rick, who has demanded that he work for him as payment for the thousands of pounds he owes him.

The sweet old biddy isn't Gary's first innocent target.

Earlier, he repairs Mary's guttering and, as Rick continues to hound him, he's so desperate to pay off his debt that he lies to the florist that further work is needed. Mary has no reason to doubt him, and hires him on the spot.

Gary's guilt-ridden at having diddled his neighbour, but he feels a lot worse when Rick takes him for a spin. As they pull up outside an assisted-living complex, Rick orders him to con pensioners into taking out loans. Under pressure, Gary knocks on the door of a resident, who listens to his 'offer' and invites him in.

Back on the cobbles, Gary realises that no one is off limits to sick Rick when he spots him sidling up to Cathy's nephew, Alex. He tries to warn Alex to steer clear, but the vulnerable lad proceeds with a loan. When Rick then guesses that his 'employee' stuck his oar in, he warns Gary that Sarah and Harry will suffer if he doesn't play ball.

Poor Gary feels trapped, and later, as Sarah heads to bed, he sobs quietly at the kitchen table. Can he find a way out of this black hole?

Trapped: Gary is forced to become a con man

How low can he go?

Helping with inquiries: Sarah talks to the police

Sarah the snitch?

Pressure mounts for David and Nick, who recently opened their barbershop using money stolen from Audrey. They're desperate to get rid of new employee Natalie – Nick's former partner in crime – but despite their efforts to grind her down with a series of menial tasks, the brunette refuses to budge and insists on sticking around.

Meanwhile, at the community centre where Underworld is being temporarily run, the situation gets worse when Sarah hands over the company accounts at the request of the police. Nick warns his brother that if the cops spot Audrey's money in the accounts, they could both be looking at a prison sentence. Does HMP Weatherfield now beckon?

Paranoid: Carla feels everyone is against her

Woman on the edge

Carla suffers a breakdown, and goes missing from the cobbles...

Barefoot, alone and afraid... this isn't how we're used to seeing Carla Connor. But when the brunette becomes gripped by paranoia this week, she quickly spirals out of control.

Carla's been in a bad way for some time, believing that her failure to fix the Underworld roof led to the disaster that killed Rana. Her subsequent confession at the nurse's funeral has made her enemy No.1 in the eyes of many of the residents.

Her fragile state of mind takes a further battering when she turns up at the Rovers to join the Connors in toasting Aidan, on his birthday. A livid Kate accuses her sister of murdering the woman she loves, and Carla then receives a spooky message from Rana's social-networking site, reading, 'You destroy everything you touch.'

'Carla believes they're all in on it; that Rana's alive and they are playing a trick on her,' reveals Alison King, who plays her.

Peter points the finger of blame at Kate – who insists she's innocent – and when Carla receives another message, he sets out to find the culprit.

By that point, Carla's a ball of distrust and confusion. She covers the camera on her laptop, fearing she's being spied on. And

“She thinks that everyone wants to make her suffer, and to put her in prison”

both Ken and Peter are worried as she later scribbles the words 'watching' and 'murder' on a crossword, and throws a cup of tea down the sink because she thinks it's poisoned.

As the situation escalates, she runs out of the house with no shoes on, and Peter finds her staring at the factory.

The ex-bookie leads his girlfriend to the medical centre, but when Carla hears Toyah saying she needs a mental-health specialist, she panics and bolts through a window.

'She thinks that everyone wants to make her suffer, and to put her in prison,' adds Alison. 'It's not even the thought of prison that she's running away from; it's what's going on in her head. She just needs to be on her own.'

Can Peter find her, and get her the help she desperately needs?

WEATHERFIELD EXTRA

Daniel Brocklebank, who plays vicar Billy Mayhew, says he loved taking part in ITV's recent talent show All Star Musicals. The actor impressed the judges with his rendition of The Greatest Showman track From Now On to clinch victory over the other six celebrities.

'I had the time of my life; I enjoyed every second of it!' he tells us. 'I've done lots of theatre in the past but never musical theatre, so it was a new experience entirely. As much as I adore it at Coronation Street, it was great to do something different for a while.'

Animal lover: Rhona offers to help Kim

Pained: She's left alone at the stables

Rhona collapses!

The struggling vet keels over while treating Kim's ailing horse...

Blimey, 2019 is fast shaping up to be an annus horribilis for Rhona Goskirk. Just seven weeks after she was impaled on a fence in Moira's barn, and four weeks after she underwent a hysterectomy, the valiant vet keels over at Kim Tate's stables.

Rhona's collapse happens at a time when she really deserves to be happy – because it's her birthday. But the struggling mum is feeling both physically and emotionally delicate as she copes with the aftermath of her surgery and the onset of the menopause, and her special day is a disaster from the off, thanks to Pete's choice of present.

'He gets her a lovely dressing gown and a pair of unicorn slippers,' reveals Zoe Henry, who plays Rhona. 'Ordinarily, she'd have loved them, but they represent something else to her now, which is being an old lady.'

'It's not Pete's fault. It might be a tiny bit insensitive on his part, but men don't always see things from the same angle.'

Pete is fuming to be accused of viewing Rhona as an old heifer who needs putting out to pasture, and the normally mild-mannered farmer gives his partner some home truths. Rhona realises she has crossed a line and is left licking her wounds. But things then go from bad to worse.

Later at the vet's surgery, where she has promised Paddy and Vanessa that she'll stick to light duties, she gets a visit from Kim, who is in a state about one of her horses being taken ill. Paddy and Vanessa are out, so Rhona offers to take a look at the ailing equine.

'Rhona's an animal lover and very good with horses,' says Zoe, 'and thinks that if she just looks over the horse, then something as simple as a little injection might be all that's needed. But it's too physical for her.'

'She diagnoses what's wrong, and as Kim leaves, Rhona gets a bad dull pain in her abdomen. She suspects she has done too much, and then she collapses.'

Once again, poor Rhona is in a heap on the floor, in pain and all alone. Will Kim ride to her rescue? And will Rhona's self-esteem now plummet even further?

“As Kim leaves, Rhona gets a bad dull pain in her abdomen”

Rhona isn't the only woman who's having the week from hell. Manipulative Maya gets a dressing-down for her lack of focus at school, and just as she's managed to contain the situation, her teenage lover Jacob calls time on their 'relationship'.

It's headteacher Jessie who pulls Maya up for her below-par performance – although how she's in a position to pass comment is anyone's guess, given that she spends most of her time hanging out at the cafe. Forced into a corner, history teacher Maya lies to Jessie that she's been struggling with low self-esteem since her divorce from doctor Liam.

Maya's relieved when Jessie buys her cock-and-bull story, but she's thrown into another panic when a stressed-out Jacob says he can no longer cope with the secrets and lies surrounding their affair. As she tries to persuade him against coming clean, the schoolboy snaps and announces that they're over.

It's a bitter blow for the twisted blonde, who thrives on the teen's adoration and devotion.

'Jacob gives her what she needs, and she genuinely believes that they could have a future together,' says

We're over!

Maya is stunned when Jacob dumps her. Can she reel the teen back in?

Next level: Liv decides to make a move

Louisa Clein, who plays Maya. Later on, when Maya tries to win him back, Jacob is thrilled. But she's not the only woman vying to get close to the lad. Liv – who Jacob is 'dating' to put people off the scent of him and Maya – fears she's losing her 'boyfriend' because of her reluctance to get intimate, and decides she's going to salvage the situation by sleeping with him. How will Jacob respond?

End of the road: Jacob tells Maya he's had enough

Tragedy: Romeo and Lily flee together

HOLLYOAKS

When Courtney notices new scars on Lily's arm, the teacher calls Diane and Tony, and all three are relieved when the teen checks in to a mental-health ward. Meanwhile, Romeo is released on bail for Mac's murder, and with the evidence against him stacking up, he decides to flee the country to escape a wrongful conviction. Finding out about his girlfriend's relapse, he calls in at the hospital, and Lily decides to go on the run with him. But as the pair head to the station, Lily's blood tests reveal that she has sepsis, which is spreading to her organs. And by the time her loved ones have tracked her down, it's too late...

Undervalued: Ayesha is struggling

DOCTORS

Already feeling unappreciated, Ayesha's self-esteem plummets further during a team-building exercise in which she is left trailing behind. Becky tries to give her a boost, insisting that she's a great role model, and urges her to train as a nurse prescriber so she can sign off her own prescriptions. Will Ayesha take up the challenge?

Elsewhere, Jimmi clashes with Judge Tennyson when he's called to give evidence. Guest stars this week include Kriss Dosanjh, who played Rana's dad Hassan in Coronation Street.

Vandalised: Harriet and Laurel discover the paint

Red alert!

As PC Swirling investigates the attack on Harriet, the shaken vicar hopes that it was just a random incident, and that she was in the wrong place at the wrong time. But when she finds her back door open and a photo smashed, she starts to worry that she's being targeted. Her fears are seemingly confirmed when the church pulpit is later vandalised with red paint. Who's to blame?

DALES EXTRA

Andrew Scarborough, who plays Graham, says he's relieved that Joe Tate's fate has finally been cleared up for Emmerdale viewers. 'It was getting tiring, people asking, "Where is he? Is he alive?" or saying, "You naughty man, you killed Joe!"' he laughs. 'I've always been asked two questions when people meet me. "Did you kill Joe?" and, "Why don't you smile?"'

Family business:
Ben tells Phil what
he has in mind

A man with a plan...

Ben wants to rebuild the Mitchell empire – but what's he really up to?

Ben Mitchell is back on home soil, but why has he left sunny Portugal for dreary old Albert Square? Clearly, Phil's eldest is up to something, and wants Lola to be his right-hand woman.

But when Phil admits this week that he's broke, the lad is blindsided. Is his grand plan over?

“He's definitely an ally in terms of building Phil up”

Well, not necessarily, because once Ben has got over the shock, he turns into a ray of optimism. He invites his old man round for dinner and, to Lola's surprise, suggests they work together to rebuild the Mitchell empire.

‘Ben certainly doesn't want to see his dad failing, so he wants to support him in any way he can,’ teases Max Bowden, who plays him. ‘He's definitely an ally in terms of building Phil up.’

With Ben's eyes on the prize, he doesn't want any distractions. But he soon gets one, as Lola starts to reconnect with Jay. The pair may be made for each other, but Ben doesn't want to have to play referee when it all goes wrong.

‘Jay is one of Ben's biggest loves,’ Max adds. ‘Ben worries that Jay and Lola will hurt each other, and he's going to be in a position where he has to choose between them.’

Lola insists she wants nothing more than friendship from her ex,

Look of love:
Lola and Jay
get closer

but she and Jay grow closer when he takes her for a drink.

As the pair get re-acquainted, Ben teams up with Phil for a job, and they rope in Keanu to help out. The mechanic is horrified when he heads out on his mission and discovers what is involved. What did he think he'd be doing – stacking shelves?

Back in the Square, Ben is livid to see that Lola has defied his instructions to stay away from Jay, and is hanging out with the funeral director. Unfazed, Lola sneaks off with Jay to E20, where they end up snogging.

How will Ben react when he discovers they're an item? And will he be forced to accept it, knowing Lola could blow his big secret?

Optimism:
Ben offers Phil

Staggered: Sharon is furious at the news

Sharon in crisis

Tiffany tells the mum about Dennis' involvement with the gang...

Tiffany gives a statement to the police about the gang, but her troubles are far from over. She admitted to Jack that she was raped during her time with the dodgy drug dealers. Meanwhile, young Dennis is still under their spell, and she's desperate to protect him.

When the schoolboy says he's on his way to meet Stix, she asks him to hang out with her instead. But the lad overhears her joking about babysitting him and storms off.

Tiff soon realises he's been roped into a drug deal, and bolts over to the Mitchells' to stop him going. As Sharon walks in on the commotion, Tiff tells her the truth – her son is going to meet a dealer.

Shazbang is staggered, and when she and Phil learn that it was Tiffany who introduced him to the gang, Sharon confronts the vulnerable girl and accuses her of having groomed Dennis.

A guilt-ridden Sharon admits to Phil that she was distracted while he was in Spain – leading a passing Keanu to fear she'll spill the beans about their affair.

Meanwhile, the struggling mum tries to reach out to her lad, only for Dennis to accuse her of not caring about him. Can she get Denny back on the right path?

Desperate: Tiffany and Dennis

House gift: Gray surprises Chantelle

It's all yours!

Newcomer Chantelle is treated to a birthday lunch by solicitor husband Gray, but her big present comes a few days later. The hairdresser is led across the Square by her other half, who covers his wife's eyes until they're standing outside No.1 – at which point he presents her with a set of keys and reveals he's bought the place for them and their kids, Mia and Mackenzie.

Chantelle's thrilled, and so is Karen when she discovers her daughter has a big posh gaff. How long until she's trying to wangle herself the spare room?

Sinister: Imogen finds a package on her car

NEIGHBOURS

Finn's presence continues to divide the community, and when a fire destroys police evidence against him, it throws a spanner in the works of his upcoming trial. Imogen insists on representing him, provided the ex-teacher pleads guilty to his crimes, but the lawyer is the target of a sinister threat as a pig's head is left on her car! Imogen's stunned when Sheila admits she was behind it, and decides to press charges for harassment. With Susan and Bea also at odds over Finn, Ramsay Street is torn apart...

Elsewhere, Elly tells Leo she's pregnant but Mark is not the father, while Paul and Chloe's scandalous secret is revealed.

Dope: Ryder (right) buys a joint for Raffy

HOME & AWAY

Raffy's frustrated that her family won't let her take part in a medical cannabis trial to treat her epilepsy, feeling that her condition is controlling her life. As she opens up to Ryder, her rebellious boyfriend gets dodgy Dean to hook him up with a drug dealer, and scores some marijuana – but stressed Raffy is busted by half-brother Mason as she's about to smoke a joint. He chucks the drugs away and gives the schoolgirl a stern telling off.

Also this week, Marilyn and John have mixed emotions as Jett is shipped out to lead a platoon in Afghanistan, and Jasmine reveals Tori's news when it looks like Robbo is never coming back.

WALFORD EXTRA

Jamie Borthwick, who plays Jay, says it hasn't been difficult to adjust to the 'new' Ben. 'I can't believe how well Max [Bowden] has slotted into this little family, and how well we're getting on,' Jamie tells us. 'I'm still very close friends with Harry Reid [who previously played Ben] and I speak to him all the time. As professionals, we're just dealing with the cards we've been dealt.'

PREMIERE PERIOD DRAMA

Relocating Nikolai Leskov's novella Lady Macbeth of Mtsensk to dank 1865 Northumbria, this chilly, austere drama finds Florence Pugh's teen bride revolting against her loveless marriage and embarking on a Lady Chatterley-esque affair with a stable hand on her husband's estate. This debut film from William Oldroyd may be a little too cruel and gloomy for some, but it's gorgeously shot, taking a cool, painterly eye to proceedings, and has an astonishing performance by Pugh at its core. She brilliantly conveys her anti-heroine's journey from strait-laced boredom to insolent rebellion and sensual abandon before arriving at cunning murderous malignity. PREMIERE DRAMA ▶ Josh Brolin plays an escaped con who uses a mix of bluff, charm and menace to cajole Kate Winslet's depressed single mom and her callow young son (Gattlin Griffith) into hiding him in their home, but the hunky felon turns out to have a heart of gold in this coming-of-age tale cum romantic melodrama. And, as the holiday weekend of the title unfolds, he and the heartbroken Winslet begin to fall in love. Sometimes teetering on the brink of self-parody – especially during a spot of peach-pie baking that recalls the potter's wheel episode from Ghost – the film's overcooked romance requires a large pinch of salt to swallow, but Winslet and Brolin's terrific acting helps it slip down with ease. Satellite PREMIERE ANIMATION ▶

Pixar's entertaining suburban superheroes are back, 14 years after their Oscar-winning debut. This time, however, Mr Incredible, (voiced by Craig T Nelson) is a stay-at home dad while wife Elastigirl (Holly Hunter) is out saving the world. With director Brad Bird once again at the helm, the movie is bursting with thrills and humour. Dir: Brad Bird 2018, PG, 120min

Brief Encounter

BBC2 2.00pm - 3.30pm ★★★★★

ROMANCE ▶ This atmospheric, understated love story is one of British cinema's brightest gems. Housewife Celia Johnson meets married doctor Trevor Howard on her weekly trip to town, and their gradual friendship turns to a love that they know has no future. Director David Lean never puts a foot wrong and neither do the actors.

Killer Ending

Channel 5 2.25pm - 4.10pm ★★

PREMIERE MYSTERY ▶ Well-known whodunit writer Emmanuelle Vaugier has her daughter snatched at college, leaving a crime scene exactly as described in her latest – but as yet unpublished – novel. So does she call the police to investigate? Nah. You may well end up screaming at the TV due to some of the insanely dumb actions on display in this otherwise fairly unengaging headscratcher.

Dir: Christie Will Wolf 2018, PG, 105min

X-Men: Apocalypse

C4 9.00pm - 11.50pm ★★★

PREMIERE SUPERHERO ▶ Following the previous two screen outings, this mutant adventure is a little disappointing. Buried beneath layers of prosthetic make-up, Oscar Isaac's god-like Apocalypse proves underwhelming. And when James McAvoy's Professor Charles Xavier and his X-Men allies (including Sophie Turner and Tye Sheridan) strive to stop him and Michael Fassbender's Magneto wiping out most of humanity, there are too many different characters jostling for attention. Dir: Bryan Singer 2016, 12, 170min

Diana

Channel 5 10.00pm - 12.10am ★

BIOPIC ▶ Anyone looking for so-bad-it's-good amusement will find their hopes sadly dashed by this dire Princess Diana biopic, which turns the Queen of Hearts's secret love affair with Pakistani heart surgeon Hasnat Khan into a bland Mills & Boon romance. Poor Naomi Watts tries gamely in the lead but is saddled with some truly excruciating dialogue. Her Diana goes from doe-eyed romcom heroine, meeting cute with Naveen Andrews' Hasnat in a hospital, to budding bunny-boiler when their relationship sours.

Dir: Oliver Hirschbiegel 2013, 12, 130min

The Wedding Video

BBC1 11.45pm - 1.15am ★★★

COMEDY ▶ The found-footage device receives a new jolt of energy with this sprightly romantic comedy in which a groom-to-be's slacker brother (Rufus Hound) hits on the idea of filming the preparations for his sibling's high-society wedding. The strain of squeezing everything into a home-movie format sometimes shows, but the stars, including Lucy Punch and Robert Webb as the bride and groom, have fun sending up nouveau-riche extravagance.

C4 11.50pm - 1.45am ★★★★★

CRIME DRAMA ▶ Shia LaBeouf, Tom Hardy and Jason Clarke play bootlegging siblings in Prohibition-era Virginia in this terrific gangster movie based on a true story. They've developed a formidable reputation, but then a crooked new DA Guy Pearce sets out to bring them down. As things start to turn ugly, Jessica Chastain and Mia Wasikowska enter the brothers' lives. Dir: John Hillcoat 2012, 18, 115min

The Deep

BBC2 12.45am - 2.10am ★★★

DRAMA ▶ Based on real events that took place in 1984, this astonishing survival drama recreates the ordeal of an unassuming Icelandic fisherman who swam for six hours through icy waters to safety after a shipwreck claimed the lives of his crewmates, a seemingly impossible feat that turned him into a national hero and scientific curiosity. BEST OF THE REST

Kind Hearts and Coronets

Talking Pictures

5.55pm - 8.05pm ★★★★★

COMEDY ▶ This is deservedly one of the most beloved films ever to emanate from the Ealing Studios, charting the murderous misadventures of disowned aristocrat Dennis Price to get revenge on the d'Ascoyne family (Alec Guinness playing eight different roles), whom he holds responsible for his mother's ruination. It's quite possibly the greatest black comedy ever filmed.

SCI-FI ROMANCE ▶ In a coolly conformist future world where emotions are outlawed, young denizens Nicholas Hoult and Kristen Stewart put their lives at risk by falling in love. This romantic allegory from director Drake Doremus spends so much time fashioning its chilly, soulless, blandly antiseptic dystopia that it's no wonder the film's temperature takes a while to rise. Still, Hoult and Stewart are very good at conveying tremulous yearning.

SUNDAY 7 April

Britt Robertson
in Tomorrowland

Epic

C4 1.35pm - 3.40pm ★★★
ANIMATION▶ Magically shrunk to the size of an insect, a teenage girl finds herself in the thick of a battle between good and evil being waged by tiny woodland creatures. It's an entertaining eco-friendly animated adventure based on the children's book by Rise of the Guardians author William Joyce. Adding to the fun is a remarkably starry voice cast featuring Amanda Seyfried, Colin Farrell, Beyoncé and Christoph Waltz. Dir: Chris Wedge 2013, U, 125min

Six Days Seven Nights

Channel 5 2.05pm - 4.10pm ★★★
ROMANTIC COMEDY▶ 'You talk too much. You're opinionated. You're stubborn, sarcastic and stuck up!' Harrison Ford certainly knows how to turn on the charm as a scruffy pilot whom Anne Heche hires for a South Seas flight. And, of course, his clapped-out seaplane crashes on a desert island... Ford and Heche don't quite click, but he does well by his comically gruff character. Dir: Ivan Reitman 1998, 12, 125min

Tomorrowland

BBC2 4.00pm - 6.00pm ★★★
FAMILY▶ Inspired by a Disneyland theme-park ride, this peppy sci-fi adventure finds George Clooney's grizzled, grumpy recluse teaming up with Britt Robertson's bright-eyed, bushy-tailed teenager and an enigmatic, seemingly ageless little girl (Raffey Cassidy) for a world-saving race against time. The nature of their quest is rather convoluted, but when things get going director Brad Bird (Incredibles 1 & 2 and Mission: Impossible - Ghost Protocol) gives the action plenty of zip. Dir: Brad Bird 2015, 12, 120min

Gone Girl

BBC2 10.00pm - 12.25am (N Ireland 11.00pm - 1.25am) ★★★★★
MYSTERY▶ A married couple's dark secrets spill forth in this enjoyably slippery suspense thriller based on Gillian Flynn's best-selling novel. Rosamund Pike's golden girl has gone missing. Is husband Ben Affleck to blame for her disappearance? COMEDY DRAMA▶ Self-conscious 14-year-old Liam James is on summer holiday with his insecure mother Toni Collette, her controlling boyfriend Steve Carell and Carell's snippy daughter Zoe Levin. Life couldn't be more miserable, but then Liam gets a job at the local water park run by slacker Sam Rockwell, where he also meets pretty AnnaSophia Robb... 5Spike 6.35pm - 9.00pm ★★★★★
ADVENTURE▶ Even if director John Huston was more interested in bagging himself an elephant on safari than in directing this rousing World War I yarn, that didn't stop him from making a masterpiece. Humphrey Bogart is on fine form as a devil-may-care river trader ferrying prim missionary Katharine Hepburn who's determined to sink a German battleship. Dir: John Huston 1951, U, 145min

PERIOD DRAMA▶ Director Robert Altman's star-studded satire of the British upper-classes in the 1930s takes the form of a sly Agatha Christie-style drawing room whodunit, centered around the murder of Michael Gambon's toff during a hunting party weekend. Helen Mirren, Clive Owen, Maggie Smith, Kristin Scott Thomas and Derek Jacobi are among the murder suspects. Dir: Robert Altman 2001, 15, 165min

Satellite MYSTERY▶ Based on a Richard Matheson story, this strange mystery thriller stars Cameron Diaz and James Marsden as a suburban couple who find a small wooden box on their doorstep. A creepy old man (Frank Langella) then turns up with a moral dilemma for them: if they press a button on the box they will be given $1million, but someone they don't know will die. The film becomes increasingly unfathomable, but it is intelligent and stylish. Dir: Richard Kelly 2009, 12, 130min

Satellite THRILLER▶ There's lots of action here, if you don't mind not being able to follow the plot. After an explosion at a research lab that's been developing a new source of energy, technician Keanu Reeves uncovers a conspiracy. The plot gets pottier, so don't worry about it. Just enjoy the action set-pieces, which include some hair-raising stuff on a dividing bridge and a desperate battle in an unoccupied house. Rachel Weisz co-stars as Keanu's colleague while Morgan Freeman steals the film in a classy turn as the bad guy. Dir: Andrew Davis 1996, 12, 130min

Elijah Wood and Nicolas Cage in The Trust

Driven Off the Rails

Channel 5 2.15pm - 4.00pm ★★
THRILLER ▶ There's a delirious touch of surrealism whirled into the heady melodrama of this initially intriguing movie, as amnesiac Hannah Barefoot tries to piece her life back together. Can she trust 'perfect' husband, Thomas Beaudoin? Does she not know the rules of TV-movie thrillers? Dir: David Jackson 2017, PG, 105min

CRIME THRILLER ▶ Student Justin Timberlake travels to Costa Rica and ends up working for Ben Affleck's king of online gambling. Before long, he's dating Affleck's beautiful right-hand woman, Gemma Arterton – but when your boss is the kind of man who keeps pet crocodiles, you just know things will turn out badly... This film has all the right ingredients for a smouldering thriller and, though it's lacking in suspense, it's an entertaining ride.

CHILLER DRAMA ▶ Despite its zombie apocalypse premise, this is more of a sombre drama, in which Arnold Schwarzenegger gets to flex his acting muscles. He plays a farmer whose daughter (Abigail Breslin) has become infected during an outbreak of a virus and is turning into a zombie. There are one or two flurries of action and grim horror but, for the most part, the film allows Arnie to show unaccustomed emotional depths.

CRIME DRAMA ▶ Writer-director-star Noel Clarke brings his 'Hood trilogy to a belated close (following 2006's Kidulthood and 2008's Adulthood) with this morally muddled, cliché riddled, cack-handed urban crime melodrama. Poorly written and acted, the movie finds Clarke's ex-con anti-hero drawn back into the world of gang violence after an attack on his younger brother. Clarke clearly intends us to count the costs of gang life, but his film's slow-motion shots of swaggering thugs make it seem as though he quite likes glamourising it, too.

Christopher Robin

Sky Cinema Premiere 8.00pm - 9.50pm ★★
Satellite PREMIERE FAMILY ▶ Disney gives another of their animated classics the live-action treatment with this charming tale inspired by AA Milne's beloved stories about a playful boy and his stuffed animal friends. Ewan McGregor plays the grown-up Christopher Robin, who has turned into a joyless drudge. Fortunately, Winnie-the-Pooh and his pals from the Hundred Acre Wood are ready to help him rediscover the joys of life.

Tiger Roll on the way to Grand National victory last year

The Grand National

● HORSE RACING / 4.35pm (not Scotland) / ITV

LIVE In the 180 years since it was first run in 1839, the Grand National has become the world's greatest steeplechase. This year's could be a classic, with last year's winner, Tiger Roll, again ridden by Davy Russell, looking a good bet to become the first back-to-back Aintree winner since Red Rum's second of three Grand National wins in 1974. The nine-year-old won by a head last year, but after his 22-length victory in the Glenfarclas Chase at Cheltenham last month, trainer Gordon Elliott believes the gelding is now jumping better than ever. 'He's a horse of a lifetime,' he says. You're unlikely to get anywhere near the 10-1 odds available last year, because Tiger Roll is now the one to beat. Race starts 5.15pm. ★★★★★ RMC

Drugs R Us: Anna, Alf and Nicky

Follow the Money

● DRAMA / from 9pm / BBC4

NEW If this Danish drama wasn't already heavily indebted to US all-time great The Wire, series three's opener suggests it definitely is now, as the focus shifts from business corruption to drug trafficking. Ex-car thief Nicky is taking business studies classes to help him launder his drugs earnings, while police officer Alf is struggling with PTSD as he starts following the financial trails to Denmark's biggest drug kingpins. As their paths converge, this could be a classic... ★★★★★ AL

Coach Sir Tom Jones

The Voice Final

● ENTERTAINMENT / 8.40pm / ITV

LAST ONE The four remaining singers arrive at the live final. Sir Tom and the other coaches look on from those big red chairs, but it's public votes alone that determine who wins! Once again, the final features performances from the coaches and their acts, which often seals the deal for the winner. ★★★★★ VW

Paint it black: Sean at work in his studio

Unstoppable

● FACTUAL / 9pm / BBC2

NEW ...Sean Scully and the Art of Everything. A film following a truly unique character as he travels the globe in his private jet. One of the UK's richest artists, Sean was born into poverty in Dublin. The family then moved to London but life didn't improve – they were poor, hungry, sometimes homeless and

Sean soon became involved in gangs. But this upbringing was great preparation for the brutal art world, he now explains. With a complete disregard for the critics and unashamed confidence in his work, he has battled his way to fame and fortune and has plenty to say about life, art and everything in between. ★★★★★ JL

John Bishop guests

Jonathan Ross

● CHAT SHOW / 10.30pm / ITV

Plenty of variety on tonight's show, with reliably chatty comedian John Bishop joining Victoria star Jenna Coleman, and ballet star Carlos Acosta, who will head up the Birmingham Royal Ballet from next year. Music comes from Bebe Rexha, and with styles ranging from dance to country, she's as varied as the guests. ★★★★★ SM

Britain's Got Talent

The country's favourite talent show returns to brighten up Saturday nights

● ENTERTAINMENT / 7.15pm / ITV

NEW

It's time to honour the good, the bad... and the unusual... as Britain's Got Talent returns for its 13th series this week, to take us through to early June. As the auditions kick off, Ant McPartlin re-joins his mate Declan Donnelly as co-host (having missed the live shows last year for well-publicised reasons) and judges Simon Cowell, Amanda Holden, David Walliams and Alesha Dixon are in fine form as the first hopefuls take to the stage. Will the acts be hilarious... or horrific? BGT has provided many stand-out moments in its time – and this first episode highlights that Britain has STILL got talent! ★★★★★ VW

Can Raheem Sterling do it for Man City?

MAN CITY V BRIGHTON & HOVE ALBION

FA Cup

● FOOTBALL / 5.10pm / BBC1

LIVE Having already picked up the League Cup this season, Manchester City are strong favourites to land more silverware. Only Brighton (k-o 5.30pm) stand between themselves and the FA Cup final. If the likes of Raheem Sterling remain on fire for them, this match looks like it'll go only one way – but let's remember City barely squeezed past Championship side Swansea in the quarter-finals. Will their luck hold? ★★★★★ NP

Getting in touch with the other side

Ouija: Origin of Evil

● FILM / 10.50pm / Film4

PREMIERE Mike Flanagan has directed a run of quality chillers, including Netflix series The Haunting of Hill House. This sequel to 2014's Ouija is far better than the original. Set in 1967, it sees a widow (Elizabeth Reaser) and her daughters accidentally releasing demonic forces while trying to pump up their séance business. A strong cast and Flanagan's skill at keeping much in the shadows produce genuine chills. ★★★★★ NP

SUNDAY 7 April

Thirsty elephants follow their matriarch

Wild Botswana

● WILDLIFE / from 6pm / Nat Geo Wild

NEW Lovers of Botswana's Okavango Delta are well-served by a brace of new wildlife programmes this evening. Wild Botswana is a rapid race through the region that is home to a vast array of wildlife – from lions and elephants, leopards and hippos, to wild dogs and baboons. It's a blink-and-miss-it kind of show but the focus here is really on the sheer diversity that this vast 6,000 square miles of lush watery terrain encourages. An elephant never forgets, and this troupe are guided by a matriarch with a mind map of where the water holes are... Shifting the emphasis slightly is Into the Okavango (7pm), which looks at the impact human activity is having on one of the world's great wetland wildernesses. ★★★★★ SM

On a mission: Arnott and Fleming

Line of Duty

● DRAMA / 9pm / BBC1

AC-12 is left reeling after last week's shocking events and sets out on a determined mission to find out more concerning John Corbett's undercover work by obtaining all the information they can about Operation Pear Tree. But while the organised crime gang's nefarious activities step up a gear and another raid is carried out, Steve Arnott goes out on a limb to get to the truth and ends up taking a huge risk... Meanwhile, Hastings meets up with his estranged wife, who has some news... ★★★★★ CC

James Cracknell

The Boat Races

● ROWING / from 1.20pm / BBC1

LIVE Double Olympic champion James Cracknell, 46, becomes the oldest competitor in Boat Race history when he rows for Cambridge in today's event (starts 3.10pm). His crew is looking for consecutive wins over Oxford, while the Light Blues are also defending their title in the women's race, which starts at 2.13pm. ★★★★★ RMC

Bathing belle: Jenna Coleman's Victoria

Victoria

● DRAMA / 9pm / ITV

Victoria and her family have decamped to Osborne House on the Isle of Wight though the Queen isn't really feeling in the holiday mood! Tensions are growing with Albert as they clash bitterly over his tough treatment of Bertie and her desire to return home to her people, and matters are only made worse as Feodora spots an opportunity to scheme. Meanwhile, the marvellously naughty Palmerston does nothing to ease Victoria's irritation when he makes a dig at her absence and causes a spot of diplomatic bother! But when the cheeky Foreign Secretary starts to pursue a potential romantic liaison with Sophie, matters take a surprising turn... ★★★★★ CC

Darron and Alex

Race Across the World

● REALITY / 8pm / BBC2

LAST ONE After an epic journey covering 21 countries, the teams embark on the final race to Singapore. But who will cross the finish line first? Darron and Alex started this race as estranged father and son, but this journey has really been the making of them. Whoever gets to Singapore first, these two, with their newly cemented relationship, walk away winners. ★★★★★ JL

Louisa returns with her clan!

It's back to Corfu for one final series with Louisa and family

● DRAMA / 8pm / ITV

NEW This dreamy, idyllic drama is back for one final series, so make the most of the sun-soaked vistas while you still can! As we rejoin Corfu's most chaotic family, Larry is struggling to get any peace to write his book, Leslie is still pining for Daphne, Margo decides to take up hairdressing and Gerry has a new pet: a fabulous owl called Ulysses! It's Louisa we're most concerned about, though, after her heart was shattered last series when she realised she could never be with Spiros, and now she barely sees him. Perhaps opening the house as a B&B will distract her... A glorious return, with a reliably pitch-perfect performance from Keeley Hawes. ★★★★★ EB

Our Classical Century

● DOCUMENTARY / 9pm / BBC4

NEW The third instalment of this excellent BBC series looking at the influence classical music has had over the past 100 years covers the period from the 1950s to the 1970s. It takes in the televising of the Last Night of the Proms with charismatic conductor Malcolm 'Flash Harry' Sargent, Benjamin Britten's War Requiem and the famous 1970s Hovis ad that featured Dvorák's 'New World' symphony. ★★★★★ JP

Celebrity SAS

● REALITY / 9pm / C4

NEW ...Who Dares Wins for Stand Up to Cancer. A dozen famous faces have signed up for this series, a fundraising version of the show in which ex-Special Forces personnel put civvies through hellish, SAS-style training. Loose Women's Andrea McLean, former Tory MP Louise Mensch and Made in Chelsea's Sam Thompson all stand out in this first episode. The first task is to fall backwards out of a helicopter... ★★★★★ IM

Adam Henson

Springtime on the Farm

● NATURE / 8pm / Channel 5

NEW Pop-star-turned-farmer JB Gill, Emmerdale icon Kelvin Fletcher, Countryfile's Adam Henson and Springwatch's Lindsey Chapman all return for a new series of Channel 5's celebration of British farming. Hosting daily from Barnsley's Cannon Hall Farm, the team explore everything rural-related, from Kelvin learning how to scan pregnant heifers to JB helping out with lambing in North Wales. The JLS star also visits Fiddler's Lancashire Crisps, following the potatoes' journey from field to frier! With guest appearances from Yorkshire Vet stars Peter Wright and Julian Norton, and Our Yorkshire Farm's Amanda Owen. Great welly telly! ★★★★★ ER

David on the steps at Ravensworth Terrace

A House Through Time

● REAL LIFE / 9pm / BBC2

NEW David Olusoga presents this journey through 200 years of history through the eyes of the residents of 5 Ravensworth Terrace in Newcastle. The house was built in 1824 and its first resident was lawyer William Stoker, whose career was marred by a shocking discovery. The next residents – a marine biologist and a doctor – also have intriguing stories. ★★★★★ JL

Donal's dishing up!

Donal's Meals in Minutes

● COOKERY / 9pm / Good Food

NEW Fans of BBC1's Saturday Kitchen will be familiar with charismatic young food writer and cook Donal Skehan from his spells as presenter. This new series has recipes for quick, easy dishes, starting with weeknight meals. Continues every night this week. ★★★★★ JP

Georgia is looking for her husband

The Widow

● DRAMA / 9pm / ITV

NEW There's an intriguing premise to this new drama from the writers of The Missing and Baptiste. Kate Beckinsale stars as Georgia, the eponymous widow whose husband, Will, was on a plane that crashed in the Democratic Republic of the Congo. Three years later, she thinks she sees Will in news footage of rioting in the Congo. Thinking that he might be alive, she flies to Africa to meet Will's colleague, Judith (Alex Kingston), and a journalist whose wife was also on the plane. With other plots about child soldiers and a medical trial, it's off to a promising start. Continues tomorrow. ★★★★★ IM

Nick Knowles hosts

Home Is Where the Art Is

● REALITY / 3.45pm / BBC1

NEW Think you can't afford a piece of original art? Think again! In this new series hosted by Nick Knowles, three artists compete to get a commission from a mystery buyer by guessing what they might like by snooping around their home! A heartfelt series with some colourful characters. Continues daily. ★★★★★ ER

Kelly Macdonald plays a mother looking for answers

The Victim

Kelly Macdonald plays a grieving mother out for revenge

● DRAMA / 9pm / BBC1

NEW Showing over consecutive nights, this four-part is all you'll be thinking about for the next few days. Kelly Macdonald plays Anna, who has never recovered from her son's murder. The killer was only a child himself, and has therefore been afforded a fresh start with a new identity, leaving Anna livid and determined to hunt him down. Then a few streets away, a bus driver falls victim to a brutal attack – and the community believes he's the man Anna is looking for. With the exception of one copper, played brilliantly by John Hannah, the police are keen to play to public opinion and don't seem fussed about investigating the attack. Who's the victim here? ★★★★★ EB

Blackchurch Rock, North Devon

Devon and Cornwall

● FACTUAL / 9pm / More4

This sunny series continues celebrating the hardy folk that live at the western tip of the UK. We join the Alfords as they tend to Dartmoor's iconic wild ponies, before travelling to north Devon as two climbers attempt to scale the imposing Blackchurch Rock. It's a challenging ascent but there's not much time to enjoy the view as the tide is coming in. Next we meet silver surfer Gwyn Haslock, who is still happily riding the waves in her seventies. ★★★★★ JL

Beef and pepper stir-fry, anyone?

Mary Berry's Quick Cooking

● COOKERY / 8.30pm / BBC2

When it comes to quick cooking, the restaurants of London's West End – catering for thousands of people who want to eat before an evening at a show – know a trick or two. Mary picks up a few tips before heading home to make an Asian beef and pepper stir-fry that is ready in no time and looks absolutely delicious. ★★★ SM

How will the celebrity seniors cope with new technology?

Hard to Please OAPs

● ENTERTAINMENT / 8.30pm / ITV

NEW Question: How many celebrity pensioners does it take to get Alexa to work? Answer: three – who end up verbally abusing the smart speaker! This fun six-parter, entertainingly narrated by Jennifer Saunders, sees eight celebrities – John Sergeant, Sheila Ferguson, Harry Redknapp, June Brown, Michael Whitehall, Ruth Madoc, Amanda Barrie and Lionel Blair – try a range of cutting-edge gadgets. But when self-confessed innovation-haters June, Harry and Michael test Alexa's ability to explain how to make scones, it's a recipe for disaster. Meanwhile, John, Lionel and Ruth head out in an electric car, which the mischievous crew haven't charged... ★★★★★ CC

Champions League

● FOOTBALL / 7pm / BT Sport 2

LIVE A cracking all-Premier League clash in the Champions League quarter-final – the first time in 10 years that four English clubs have made it this far – with Spurs out to topple the seemingly all-conquering Manchester City (k-o 8pm). Will Harry Kane be looking to create havoc among the City defence – or will this be a cagey, probing affair, with both teams having so much to play for? At the same time tonight on BT Sport 3, Liverpool host Porto in their first leg. ★★★★★ NP

'Hello, Mr Clinton!'

Derry Girls

● COMEDY / 9pm / C4

LAST ONE Excitement in Derry is at fever pitch as the city prepares for Bill Clinton's visit. Grandpa Joe has his own way of trying to track down the President, which involves his son-on-law driving around aimlessly. Meanwhile, the girls hope Chelsea Clinton accepts the personal invitation they sent her. As with the finale to the first series, this one ends on a poignant note. ★★★★★ JE

How to Lose Weight Well

● FACTUAL / 8pm / C4

NEW The weather's warmer and our clothes skimpier – so that can only mean one thing: diet shows! Dr Xand van Tulleken and Dr Helen Lawal are back for a Spring special of the show that road-tests some of the most popular diets and weight-loss gadgets. This week, Katy and Emily have two weeks to slim down for Katy's wedding; Valenta and Praise embark on a six-week plan to lose weight for a beach holiday; and Johnny and Joe need to look good in trunks for a pool party in four months' time. Meanwhile, Dr Xand investigates a way to get slim, which depends on the way you breathe and sleep. Now, that's our kind of diet! ★★★★★ LP

Operation Live

● FACTUAL / 10pm / Channel 5

NEW We're back at the Royal London Hospital to watch more operations as surgeons talk Nicky Campbell through procedures, with a specialist on hand to explain further. We'll see a kidney transplant tonight and spinal surgery tomorrow, and it goes without saying this isn't for the squeamish. ★★★★★ JL

Cameron in the operating theatre

A return to the real-life drama of the operating theatres

● FACTUAL / 9pm / BBC2

NEW If you're in any way squeamish, look away. This riveting series goes behind the doors of Queen Elizabeth Hospital Birmingham's operating theatres and begins with a close-up look at brain surgery in all its gory detail. And not your average brain surgery, but one where the patient – Cameron, 20 – is awake. Because Cameron's tumour is located in the area of the brain responsible for speech, Cameron is encouraged to keep talking while each section of the tumour is probed. If his speech falters, then that part of the tissue can't be removed. The stakes are high – a 50 per cent chance of losing his ability to communicate altogether, a stroke, or even death... ★★★★★ HD

Peter (Toby Jones) is about to make a discovery...

Don't Forget the Driver

● COMEDY / 10pm / BBC2

NEW Toby Jones brings his trademark melancholic style to this comedy about a coach driver who makes a startling discovery. As Peter prepares to take another coach across the Channel, he spots a dead body on the beach... what does a normal person do when they find something so extraordinary? ★★★ EB

Dr Ranj and Sian look at value for money when eating healthily

Save Money: Lose Weight

● FACTUAL / 7.30pm / ITV

NEW It's all very well trying to diet if you want to shape up for the Summer, but what about gearing your diet towards longer-term health? Sian Williams and Dr Ranj Singh look at what constitutes value for money in the battle of the bulge. ★★★ JP

Wednesday Highlights

Kathryn faces up to Max... but will there be consequences?

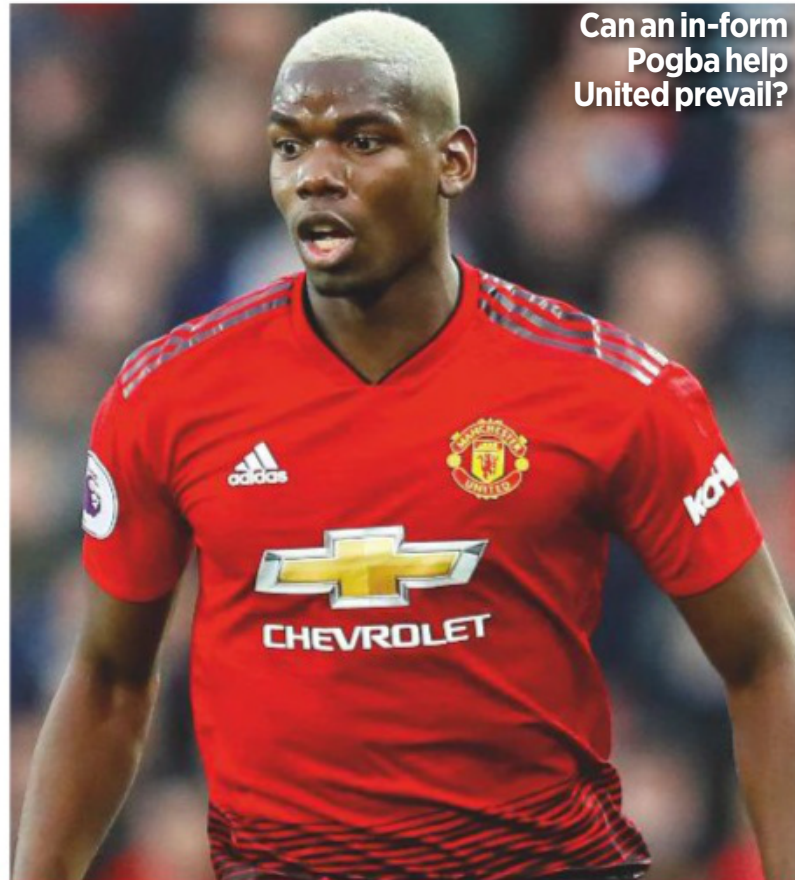

MotherFatherSon

● DRAMA / 9pm / BBC2

As Max (Richard Gere) attempts to publicly put his house in order by investigating rogue practices at his newspaper, Kathryn (Helen McCrory) and Caden (Billy Howle) are equally determined to bring Max himself to justice by exposing his own dodgy dealings and dishing the dirt on all his secrets to Nick and ailing Maggie. But are those closest to Kathryn and Caden at risk, and how far will Max go to protect his empire? Meanwhile, as Prime Minister Jahan Zakari faces troubling family problems of his own, an increasingly single-minded (and slightly sinister!) Angela Howard rallies support and plans her manifesto proposing a radical new way of life in Britain... ★★★★★ CC

Can an in-form Pogba help United prevail?

MANCHESTER UNITED V BARCELONA

Champions League

● FOOTBALL / 7pm / BT Sport 2

LIVE Manchester United have the mammoth task of overcoming Barcelona in their quarter-final first leg of the Champions League (k-o 8pm). Their epic turnabout against a strangely compliant PSG in the last round will fill the Reds with confidence, as will the return to form of midfielder Paul Pogba, but the Spanish giants are looking increasingly ominous opponents. Can manager Ole Gunnar Solskjær pull off some more magic and send the team through to the semis? ★★★★★ NP

Lisa's career is still on the line

The Bay

● DRAMA / 9pm / ITV

With one twin dead and the other still missing, DI Manning (Daniel Ryan) is feeling the heat. The pressure is on to crack the case, and now the senior officer gets more personally involved, conducting interviews with two suspects and visiting the youth club where Dylan and Holly were last seen. Things aren't improving for family liaison officer Lisa (Morven Christie), as Sean (Jonas Armstrong) threatens to spill the beans about their one-night stand, and her own children are getting deeper and deeper into trouble. Warning: don't break off for a cuppa, as towards the end of the episode there's a major breakthrough... ★★★★★ IM

More tricky cases for supervet Noel

The Supervet

● FACTUAL / 8pm / C4

LAST ONE As this current series comes to an end, Noel Fitzpatrick finds that a lame spaniel has a collapsed disc and severe elbow arthritis, and it turns out he's already had several operations. Noel faces an emergency when a 15-month-old dachshund is brought in with a brain condition, which proves difficult to diagnose. ★★★ JP

Just your average night in with Freddie Mercury, Princess Diana and Kenny Everett...

Stars find themselves in unusual situations as the comedy anthology returns

● COMEDY / 9pm / Sky Arts

NEW Stories featuring famous people are re-imagined as tongue-in-cheek tales in the third series of the comedy. The first episode is based on the popular myth that in the late 1980s, Freddie Mercury (David Avery) and Kenny Everett (Mathew Baynton) took Princess Diana (Sophie Rundle) to a gay nightclub. In a by turns hilarious and moving story, Freddie and Kenny get separated from the disguised princess once they're at the venue as they're busy eyeing up possible conquests. Diana ends up in the dressing room of drag artist Gareth (Richard Gadd) and the poignant encounter gives her life new purpose.

Liam, Adam and Hrishikesh

Great British Menu

● COOKERY / 8pm / BBC2

A trio of chefs from the North West battle it out to win a place in Friday's final, and ultimately the chance to cook at the Abbey Road Studios banquet. Two of them – Liam Simpson and Adam Reid – have entered the contest before, but Hrishikesh Desai is a newcomer determined to hold his own against the more experienced chefs. Will his luxury starter and complex salmon curry be enough to impress the surprise veteran judge? ★★★★★ JL

Bear spearheads a new survival show

You vs Wild

● REALITY / Netflix

NEW We're used to lounging on the sofa watching adventurer Bear Grylls making key survival decisions in various hostile locations. But in this new eight-part series from Netflix, an interactive element lets the viewer choose from a couple of options and decide how Bear will react in various situations, then see how they will play out. It's a neat idea – if you try both options, you get two series for the price of one! ★★★ JP

Pose

● DRAMA / 9pm / BBC2

The drama about New York's underground transgender scene in the 1980s continues, and this week the dark shadow of HIV gets a bit closer to home. When Damon (Ryan Jamaal Swain) goes down with a bad fever, Blanca (MJ Rodriguez) insists that all the boys in the House of Evangelista get tested, and ballroom MC Pray Tell (Billy Porter) agrees to go with them for moral support. Meanwhile, Candy (Angelica Ross) resorts to getting cheap silicone injections after getting ridiculed about her frame at a ball for curvy girls, and Elektra (Dominique Jackson), mother of the House of Abundance, also makes a bold decision about her future, risking the disapproval of her sugar daddy... ★★★★★ SMA

Police arrest

Code Blue: Murder

● DOCUMENTARY / 9pm / ITV

LAST ONE The concluding part of this two-part series looking at how detectives solved two brutal murders revisits the case of pensioner John 'Jack' Williams, found dead in his Swansea home in March last year. After getting a 'code blue' call, detectives raced to the scene to find Jack tied up with head injuries, seemingly victim of a vicious attack. The only motive was that Jack had a cannabis farm in his attic. How did police nail his murderer, Jonathan Donne? ★★★★★ LP

Celebrity Painting Challenge

● REALITY / 8pm (times vary) / BBC1

The six celebrity amateur artists are tackling landscapes this week as their ability to paint depth and scale is tested. The warm-up challenge involves a table of vegetables, but their work must be created digitally on a tablet. Amber Le Bon, George Shelley and Josie D'Arby have all used similar technology before, but

Laurence Llewelyn-Bowen, Jane Seymour and Phil Tufnell are more hesitant about 'painting' on a screen. The masterclass is all about shape and colour, before the six are let loose on the London skyline to create their masterpieces to impress judges Daphne and Lachlan, plus guest judge comedian Russell Kane. ★★★★★ JL

Lee and Dean

● COMEDY / 10pm / C4

NEW The acclaimed bitter-sweet comedy about two dodgy builders from Stevenage (played by co-writers Mark O'Sullivan and Miles Chapman) returns for a second run. After their friendship was left in tatters following the revelations in Great Yarmouth at the end of last series, will Dean decide to reveal his true feelings for Lee? ★★★ AL

Naked Beach

What a bunch of beach bums!

Can living with naked people change the way you feel about your body?

● REALITY / 8pm / C4

NEW

Over a third of us admit we're unhappy with our bodies. But all that negative self-image could change thanks to C4's new five-part series Naked Beach. Each week, three 'guests' jet off to a sunny Greek retreat to take part in a revolutionary experiment. They'll spend four days in a luxury villa surrounded by eight stark naked men and women, who all have very different body shapes but love the skin they're in. The idea is that by the end of the experiment, the volunteers will feel confident about their bodies, too. This week it's the turn of Kaye, Elysia and Darrell. Will they eventually dare to bare all on the Naked Beach? ★★★★★ LP

Intense affair: Josh Brolin and Kate Winslet

Labor Day

● FILM / 11.15pm / Film4

PREMIERE Depressed single mum Adele (Kate Winslet) is forced to harbour escaped convict Frank Chambers (Josh Brolin), afraid he may hurt her son. But over the course of the titular holiday weekend, Adele and Frank start to fall in love, while he also becomes a father figure for her son. Although the premise is implausible, the leads play it out with such conviction it's impossible not to be swept up with it. A tense love story. ★★★★★ NP

Self-builder James talks to Kevin about his first home

Grand Designs: The Street

● FACTUAL / 9pm / C4

Kevin McCloud catches up with the self-builders as they continue their ambitious project to create a brand new street in Bicester, Oxfordshire. This week, young couples Jack and Hannah and James and Shannon, who see building their own homes as the only way to get on the property ladder, are in the spotlight. ★★★★★ LP

The pilgrims enjoy a group meal

Pilgrimage: The Road to Rome

● TRAVELOGUE / 9pm (times vary) / BBC2

Our pilgrims are only a few days into their journey along the Via Francigena in Italy but they have already bonded as a group – a fact that they marvel at, considering all their different backgrounds and religions. ‘People’s personalities are really starting to come through,’ exclaims Stephen K Amos at one of their communal breakfasts. ‘Sorry about that,’ jokes Brendan Cole. But jokes aside, there’s some deep introspection going on, particularly for Stephen, whose twin sister died recently. Meanwhile, former Olympic long-jump champion Greg Rutherford becomes emotional as he ponders life after his retirement from athletics aged 31. It’s a refreshing change to see a group of celebrities unflinchingly debate life’s big questions. ★★★★★ JP

Can Patrick Reed emulate last year’s success?

The Masters

● GOLF / 2pm / Sky Sports Golf/BBC2

LIVE The coveted green jacket is up for grabs as American Patrick Reed aims to defend his title amid the azaleas and dogwoods of Augusta National. World No.1 Dustin Johnson is the bookies’ favourite to win the first major of the year, but homegrown stars Rory McIlroy, recently winner of the Players Championship, world No.2 Justin Rose and Ryder Cup hero Tommy Fleetwood are all in with a shout of denying Johnson his moment of glory. Highlights on BBC2, 7pm. ★★★★★ RMC

Lonnie and his big guitar

Rock Island Line

● FACTUAL / 9pm / BBC4

NEW ...The Song That Made Britain Rock. Though Rock Island Line’s origins go back at least to the 1920s, and the first recording of it was made in 1934, by prison inmates, it is Lonnie Donegan’s 1955 single that most people remember. This is a warm tribute to both Lonnie, the ‘king of skiffle’, and an infectious song that revolutionised pop music. ★★★★★ SM

No time for sitting around, Jamie!

Jamie’s Quick & Easy Food

● COOKERY / 8pm / C4

We’re now into the third series of Jamie’s Quick & Easy Food, using just five ingredients, and the recipes are still ‘pukka’ ones we can’t wait to try out for ourselves. Tonight’s four dishes are smoky pancetta cod, Asian fried eggs, crispy garlic chicken and mango rice pudding. If you can’t get enough of the Essex cook, there are two episodes of Jamie’s Super Food on Food Network earlier (from 6pm), in which he cooks healthy dishes and looks at the diet of the people living in the places with the most centenarians. ★★★★★ JP

Chris ‘Thor’ Hemsworth

Graham Norton Show

● CHAT SHOW / 10.35pm (times vary) / BBC1

The Avengers films keep on coming and, tonight, Chris Hemsworth (Thor) and Paul Rudd (Ant-Man) tell Graham whether the latest one, Endgame, really is the last. Julianne Moore joins them to talk about her new film, Gloria Bell, while Game of Thrones fans will be waiting to see if stars Kit Harington and Emilia Clarke spill any beans. ★★★★★ SM

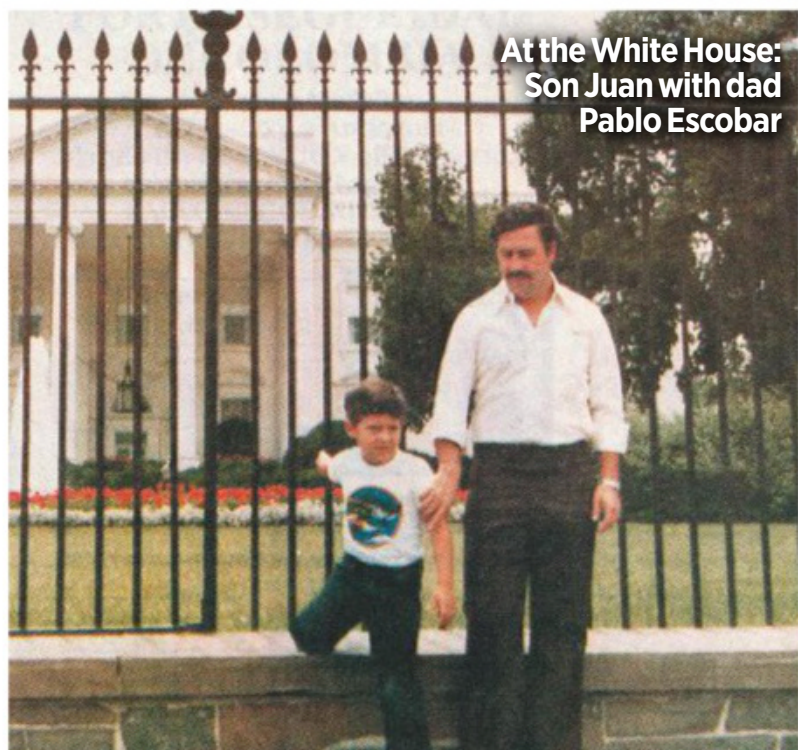

Writer and star Ryan O'Connell (left)

A new comedy about a man trying to completely reinvent himself – good luck!

● COMEDY / Netflix

NEW Jim Parsons (AKA The Big Bang Theory's Sheldon Cooper) is putting on his producer hat for this eight-part comedy, available on Netflix from today. Loosely based on Will and Grace writer Ryan O'Connell's cult memoir, I'm Special: And Other Lies We Tell Ourselves, it's the story of a gay millennial man with mild cerebral palsy who decides to rewrite his identity – as an accident victim – and finally head off in pursuit of the life he wants. The series does actually star Ryan O'Connell, too, as a version of himself, as well as Breaking Bad's Jessica Hecht and Patrick Fabian, who was Howard Hamlin in Better Call Saul. ★★★★★ NC

At the White House: Son Juan with dad Pablo Escobar

Escobar Exposed

● DOCUMENTARY / 9pm / History

NEW At its height, in the 1980s, the Colombian 'King of Cocaine' Pablo Escobar's drugs cartel was pulling in $70million a day, making the university dropout the richest man in the world. This two-parter about Escobar's remarkable rise and his bloody fall talks to members of his family and those who knew him well. A fascinating portrait of a man known as The Boss, The Magician and, inevitably, The Godfather. ★★★ SM

Max Whitlock in action on the pommel horse

European Championships

● GYMNASTICS / from 1pm / BBC2

LIVE There's plenty of tumbling, balancing, splits and strength tests on show as the European Gymnastics Championships get underway in Szczecin, Poland, with Team GB's double Olympic champion Max Whitlock leading the action. Will his brilliant pommel horse routine win him another title? Other Brits set to shine include Dominick Cunningham, who has an amazing floor routine, and Courtney Tulloch, who excels on the rings. Our women gymnasts are in with a shout, too, as the European all-around champion Ellie Downie is defending her title, while Commonwealth beam champion Alice Kinsella also goes for glory. ★★★★★ NC

THE MOST COMFORTABLE MAGIC BRAS YOU CAN BUY

Cotton & Lace Magic Bras with front fastening, wider underband and soft wide supportive straps. So comfortable you can sleep all night in them. Made from special fabric which stretches snugly over all bra sizes from A to D and with extra deep side panels, you have better bust support and will keep cool and dry all day. New improved features mean bands won't dig into you leaving unsightly bulges but give you a clean, smooth silhouette. Machine washable.

Lace Magic Bra

64% Cotton,
30% Polyamide,
6% Elastane.

Cotton Magic Bra

95% Cotton,
5% Spandex.

Please order bras using your dress size.

Both in 3 colours,
White, Cream or Black.

Your TV Times

Exciting bargains

I love Bargain Hunt's new format. The BBC1 daytime show was getting a little tired, but it's been given a new lease of life. It's much more of a competition now and more exciting for the viewer to watch.

Mary Cook,
Gainsborough, Lincs

Hilarious heroes

ITV's Harry's Heroes: The Full English was entertaining and very moving. There were some hilarious moments along with heartbreaking ones, and I hope the two-part series brought peace of mind to the former professionals struggling with their demons.

Sylvia Monk,
Hayling Island, Hants

TV TURN-OFF

Comic Relief

This year's night on BBC1 was a massive let down. Those in charge seemed to have neglected the comedy side.

Julie MacLennan,
Westhill, Inverness

LETTER OF THE WEEK

A fantastic extravaganza

I had my reservations about ITV's All Star Musicals but I was pleasantly surprised. To see the celebrities out of their comfort zone performing songs was simply fantastic.

Daniel Brocklebank was the all-out winner for me and I think that this one-off musical extravaganza has the potential to become a series.

Mrs LM Jackson, Blackburn

Talented group:
The celebs of All Star Musicals

High praise

The C4 documentary 60 Days on the Streets is to be applauded. Presenter Ed Stafford made an excellent job of raising awareness of the issue of homelessness in Britain today. I cannot praise this programme enough.

Miss Linda Keen,
Sheffield, South Yorkshire

Gripping story

I'm really enjoying ITV's crime drama The Bay. The storyline keeps you gripped and Morven Christie plays a good detective. I'm intrigued to see how it ends...

Sue Jones, Luton, Beds

Cracking drama

What a thrilling finale to end series two of Trapped, BBC4's brilliant Icelandic crime drama. This high-quality show had it all – great acting, well-written characters and a cracking storyline. I hope a third series is on the way.

John Grant,
Tollcross, Glasgow

Outstanding

Faye Brookes and Bhavna Limbachia (Kate and Rana) were outstanding in Corrie's roof collapse scenes.

CAPRICORN (22 December-20 January)

Be patient if you need to impress someone in charge. Carefully chosen words could work magic this week, so make sure an over-impulsive 'blurt out' doesn't present you in an unflattering light!

Call... 09058 170 408* Lotto No 40

AQUARIUS (21 January-18 February)

If you have been putting off making a work decision, circumstances might force your hand this week. Best to take charge early in the week, rather than being on the back foot due to someone else's decisions.

Call... 09058 170 409* Lotto No 26

PISCES (19 February-20 March)

Your intuition is spot on. But not everybody is ready to hear the truth, so you might encounter a few deaf ears. However, the important thing is you know the score – and in time you'll be fully vindicated!

Keeping Faith

Adam Faith had already been a huge pop star in the UK when he swapped singing for acting in the 1960s.

The move paid off, with Adam landing the title role of cheeky Cockney ex-jailbird Ronald 'Budgie' Bird in ITV's comedy drama Budgie.

The ducking-and-diving perpetual loser was one of TV's most memorable characters, but Adam's feet stayed firmly on the ground.

'You're not very sharp if you think that any kind of show-business success is eternal,' said the star, who died in 2003, aged 62.
